THE NEWS —We have a lively dispatch this morning the battle in Louisiana, the panic in the money market in New York, the rumors of Halleck's resignation and McClellan's re-appointment to the command of the Army of the Potomac, the speech of the President at Baltimore—all these will deeply interest our readers. Nothing, however, will meet a more cordial response than the pledge of the President that the soldiers of the Union shall be protected, and that retaliation shall be made for all real violations of the laws of war.

BEAUTIFUL CONSISTENCY —The Democratic papers have published whole volumes of abuse of loyal clergymen, because they actively espoused the cause of their country, and were willing to stand boldly by the Government of the land; especially have they denounced with bitterness the preachers of the Methodist connexion, so that one would suppose that rather than have the support of any one of these, they would almost abandon their organization Surely, they would not nominate any of this hated class for office! But we find on the list of Democratic candidates for Representative in Clackamas County the name of Charles F Beatie and wonderful to state, that gentleman was ordained as a Deacon, by Bishop Janes, at the last session of the Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Lebanon! He preaches regularly, and doubtless he preaches well, or as well as a Democratic preacher can - but what are the Review and the Democrat going to do about it? Will they support a minister and he a Methodist? Of course not, how can they, when they have so often and so furiously declared that no minister ought to take part in politics? Perhaps they may say, that as he is on the Democratic side, they can see a difference, and therefore, they can recommend the rebel sympathizers of his county to support him, but if they do, they had better stop their noisy abuse of his patriotic clerical brethren, as otherwise it will be very clear that they are opposed to political parsons only when they are loyal, but are ready to pat them on the shoulder and join hearty hands with them, if they will oppose the Government Oh! what beautiful consistency!

COL KELLY —We were informed last evening by passengers from the Dalles, that Col Kelly had consented to sacrifice himself on the altar of Oregon Democracy, by accepting the empty nomination offered to him. We regret to hear this, and hope there is some mistake about it. He is sure to be defeated, and with a defeat upon such a platform, he is certain to gain political disrepute, which will last for a life time. For a vain show,—worse than that—for the bad distinction of leading the inveterate foes of the Government, which he ought to love, he will achieve the mortification of personal defeat, and load himself with the burden of sympathy with the rebellion

We trust it is not too late for him yet to save himself from the abyss of political perdition, into which he is sure to plunge if he allows himself to be made the tool of demagogues, with whom we can hardly believe that he has any sympathy, or for whom he ought to blast his political integrity forever

THE OVERLAND MAIL TO WALLA WALLA.—The telegraph has already informed us of the contract for the route to Oregon from Salt Lake, and the correspondent of the Sacramento Union, under date of March 11th, says in further explanation of the matter:

The Post-Office Department yesterday let to Ben Holliday & Co., a contract for carrying a tri weekly mail between Salt Lake and Walla Walla, by the way of Fort Hall, commencing with the first day of July next. The schedule time is to be ten days from April to January, and fourteen days during the remainder of the year. But the contractor is confident of making the trip in seven days during a greater part of the year. The bids put in were five in number George F Thomas, one bid at $370,000 and one at $250,000; W T Bigelow, at $92,125, but received too late for consideration; C W Durkee, at $400,000, Holliday's bid, which was accepted, was for $150,000 per annum. Our Oregon neighbors will, by this arrangement, find themselves in receipt of Eastern mails as early as the people of California, and the California mails will be greatly relieved by the diversion to Oregon.

Eastern News

NEW YORK, April 8 —A special to the Times from Washington says

Refugees from Richmond report that Lee's army is being largely augmented and he expected to start on a Spring campaign with 80,000 or 90,000 troops Conscripts arriving at Richmond are sent forward to the Rapidan without delay The report that the Richmond and Fredericksburg Railroad has been taken up by the rebels is pronounced untrue The general understanding in Richmond is that the rebel leaders will [illegible] on [illegible] line of operations this Spring

The Federal War Department is also making out a list of unemployed Generals to number thirty or more and will act in the promotion of others

The special to the Herald says Gen [illegible] has gone West on a special mission for the purpose of raising negro troops in Kentucky

The Navajoe Indians of New Mexico having recently surrendered to the United States forces the proper authorities have asked Congress for the appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars with which to procure them agricultural implements and subsistence until they can support themselves on the reservation set apart for their colonization

The Times special dispatch from Washington says

The rumors so thickly flying about that General Meade is to be removed may as well be set at rest It is understood to be a settled matter that Meade will be retained in command of the Army of the Potomac, and more firmly fixed in his position than ever

Several of the troops belonging to Colonel Dahlgren's command, captured near Richmond have succeeded in effecting their escape

A large delegation of engine builders, from New England, New York and Pennsylvania, were before the Senate Naval Committee yesterday, asking remuneration from Government on the ground that they have lost heavily, owing to the increased price of labor and material. According to their statement before the Committee, they have lost several hundred thousand dollars. Builders of hulls also have been before the Committee, alleging that they too, have lost immensely on contracts The Committee have the matter under advisement

General Lee seems to have taken it for granted that the middle Virginia route to Richmond will not be abandoned, and strong fortifications are being thrown up south of the Rapidan At a point opposite Mitchell Station, or what is known as Clark's Mountain, new works are plainly in view from our signal stations

The House Committee on Public Lands have decided to report a bill extending the privileges of the Homestead Act to insurrectionary States, giving soldiers and sailors the privilege to enter upon such lands

A special Washington dispatch to the Evening Post says

Troops are now being raised as rapidly as Government can accept them It is rumored that if volunteering continues at the present rate the draft may be avoided in New York and other States

A Washington special dispatch says the House Naval Committee, the Vice President, and one or two members of the Ways and Means Committee, will leave on Thursday for St Louis and Cairo to examine sites for a Western navy yard

Special orders from Government are being carried out by the General Hospital here in providing for the reception of wounded men from expected battles That success is anticipated is shown by the fact that arrangements are making to receive the wounded of both armies

Large foreign investments in the ten forty loan are expected Parties from Holland have already subscribed $1,000,000

WASHINGTON, April 7 —The House bill appropriating $200,000 for the removal of Indian refugees, on account of the rebellion, from Southern and other reservations back to their homes, after being amended, passed the Senate to-day

It is said that the compensation for reporting and publishing the debates of Congress in the Globe is to be largely increased, Rives having given notice that he cannot continue to report and print them at the prices now paid

The consolidation of different regiments creates, as might be expected, much unpleasant feeling among military men

WAR AND PEACE DEMOCRATS —The Cincinnati Enquirer, which acknowledges nothing as Democracy, except Vallandigham be its exponent and champion, lately published an article, full of abuse of those of its own party, who are unwilling to acknowledge and submit to the rebel leaders. We commend some extracts from it to those Democrats in Oregon, who still cling to their party, even while it does not express in its platform, any sympathy with the Government, or any desire that the rebellion may be conquered. We hope Col Kelly will read it before he accepts a nomination, which is no honor to a man like him.

It is the War Democrats who are now in a dilemma In point of numbers they are in an exceedingly weak minority—a minority not merely of the whole people, but of the Democracy In point of material they constitute the poorest part—the camp followers, seekers of office themselves, or seekers of gain of influence through the election of those whom they can control to official positions. * * * If these advocates of a war candidate belong to the party at all they are simply a factious minority—weak in numbers unsound in doctrine, and selfish in respect to their objects. They would greatly like to rise to an acknowledged leadership; but, aside from any question of principle, is it wise to permit them to do so? * * * * *

We have insisted, in former articles, that the peace sentiment of the country—not by any means confined to the masses of the Democratic party—needs an exponent The only real issue before the people is the issue of peace or war. The question as to the manner in which the war should be conducted belongs to the party engaged in conducting it, and this question is now—in the form of a conflict between two rival candidates—agitating that party How it will be decided is not yet determined, and to array the Democratic party upon an issue as to the manner of conducting the war would be to make the question, whether it had any distinctive claims to popular consideration, to depend upon the results to which the Administration party may arrive The Democratic platform would become a mere contingency, to be or not to be of any significance, as the squabbles of the other party should happen to terminate This is not a safe position in which to place a party which professes to be based upon principles, and claims the right to continue irrespective of transitory political conditions

If the Democratic party should put in nomination a candidate in favor of peace, the war Democracy would go over to the other side This stands in the form of a threat, and is not without its effect upon those who think nothing of consistency and everything of success, and whose only notion of the means to eject a party from power is "to combine all the elements of the opposition" Let the war Democrats go over. All that their worst enemies could wish of them would be that they would add no more strength to the party to which they go, than they have given to the party which they have gone. * * * If the masses of the Democracy are in favor of war, nothing is more obvious than this that it is their duty to join themselves to that which is distinctly, and by prescription, supremely the war party This it would be for their interest to do, as citizens and individuals, as citizens, because, admitted to fellowship, they could employ their influence to amend whatever is erroneous in the manner in which the war has been conducted, and as individuals, because they would thereby escape the persecutions and punishments with which the Administration visits outside dissent and opposition If there is but one opinion upon the great question now before the people, there should be but one party, and a second party upon the same side of the same issue is not only absurd in every shape in which it can be presented, but is subject to all the changes which attach, in times of difficulty, to factions and groundless opposition,

There is little reason to doubt that Dahlgren's body was not given up because shameful mutilation and unchristian burial had been given.

CHICAGO, April 19 —A letter dated Grand Ecore, Red river, April 11th, says Our cavalry had been driving the enemy for two days, but on the 8th they sent back word for infantry support Gen Ransom in command of the 3d and 4th Divisions of the 13th Corps, was ordered to send a brigade, which he did At noon he was ordered to send all the 4th Division, and went up with them After advancing about five miles from where the 3d Division of the 19th Corps was encamped the rebels made a stand. Our line, consisting of 2,400 men, was formed in a belt of woods, with an open field in front and the enemy in the woods on the opposite side Gen Stone of Banks' Staff, Chief of [illegible] Staff, took direction of the movements Gen Ransom was in favor of advancing only in force, but his wishes were disregarded After keeping up skirmishing firing across this open field for about about an hour, the enemy advanced in overwhelming numbers, estimated at 10,000 strong All our available troops were sent to the front and opened on them The enemy lost heavily, but advanced steadily and soon made our cavalry give way. The enemy pressed us so close, and the panic of the cavalry was so demoralizing that the retreat became a rout While endeavoring to save his artillery Gen. Ransom was wounded severely in the leg and his adjutant, Capt Dickey, killed. While the 4th Division was falling back in disorder, the 3d Division, numbering only 1,800 men, came up and was immediately routed Finally the 19th Corps, with 7,000 men came up and formed a line which checked the enemy and held them until all our trains were brought off except that of the cavalry The army is now falling back on this place, where we must most [illegible] reorganize before proceeding further toward Shreveport Our loss is said to be 2,000, but this may be exaggerated

WASHINGTON April 18 —The House has resolved to hold evening sessions Arnold, of Illinois, offered the following

Resolved, That in the present condition of the country and its finances it is the imperative duty of Congress to raise taxes so as to largely increase the revenue of the Government, and that for this purpose a much higher rate of duties should be imposed on all luxuries imported and produced in the United States

Resolved, That the expansion of the banks circulating in the country is producing a ruinous state of affairs and should be suppressed by taxing the issue of such State banks

The resolutions were agreed to by a vote of 62 to 16

The resolution offered by Holman, of Indiana, says that the present condition of the finances can only be effectually remedied by reducing the amount of the paper currency in the country and that is the only effectual remedy to repeal a bill for the repeal of the National Banking Law, and provide for limiting the circulation of legal tender notes

COMING TO THEIR SENSES —A portion of the Democracy are growing wise They evince a desire to shake off the incubus of Slavery. They seem to have become convinced that an institution which, in its day of lusty vigor, could not save them, is not likely to help them now that it has collapsed We welcome this indication of a changed purpose, whatever the motive which has led to it, as a triumph of justice and common sense. If the entire party will but cultivate this spirit, and bend its energies to the early and complete extinction of this relic of a barbarous age it may yet find a place in the hearts of the people,—particularly if to this growing distaste for an effete institution, it superadds a spirit of patriotism which shall harmonize with the purpose of the loyal masses, to know no party and to follow no man, not wholly and heartily committed to the War and to the Union

"Sweet are the uses of adversity," is an old adage and if the unanimity with which the people have kept down the Democratic party during the past four years, shall work a change of heart and [illegible] and policy in that party, we shall have a new [illegible] striking proof of its truth Most certainly nothing else can save the party A contrary course has despoiled them not only of power, but of [illegible] of their leaders They could return [illegible] ship nor association with a party which looked [illegible] on while the hand of Treason was clutched at the throat of the Republic, and which still worshipped at the shrine of an institution which was [illegible] a national reproach, the curse of the people and of the soil which cherished it, and the cause of the bloodiest and wickedest war which has ever [illegible] the page of history. A different policy and a hearty movement in the direction of Patriotism and Freedom may win back to the old Banner of Democracy those sturdy leaders and the popular sympathy. But nothing else will

The "signs of the times" foreshadow this change of policy in high quarters But whether there is wisdom enough left in the recognized [illegible] of the party to do more than to look in the right direction is doubtful The love of power, or the ambition to do right and to be thought well of is not always strong enough to overcome old prejudices and the pride of long cherished opinions But this is as certain as [illegible]—unless this change is effected, and practically demonstrated the Confederacy will triumph sooner than the Democratic party.—Albany Evening Journal

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMON COUNCIL —The new Board held its second regular session at the Council Chamber last evening. Present—Councilmen Bennett, Frazar, Graden, Goodnough, Hurgren, and Starr. President McCraken in the Chair

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved

The following Message was received from the Mayor, read, and referred to a special committee of three

To the Hon Common Council of the City of Portland

GENTLEMEN—The Act incorporating the City of Portland makes it the duty of the Mayor to communicate to the Common Council at least once in each year a general statement of the situation and condition of the city in relation to its finances, improvements and government, and to recommend the adoption of all such measures connected with the city as he shall deem expedient

I have deferred this communication in the hope of being able to give you a statement in detail of the financial condition of the city, but I find that to be impossible, in consequence of a total want of system in keeping the accounts Attention was called to this matter by my predecessor, but his recommendations seem to have been unheeded by the late Council It is impossible without a minute examination of the records of the Council for the entire year to ascertain for what objects appropriations have been made

The revenue of the city during the past year, as I am informed by the City Collector, was as follows

From licenses		$11,017 [illegible]
" taxes		10,577 56
" fines—Recorder's Court		1,192 50
		$30,787 85
Less amount, licenses refunded	$1,100
taxes	7,360
		$ 8,460 00
Total		$2[illegible] 85

To which may be added about $5,000 in U S Legal Tender Notes, remaining in the Treasury [illegible] the commencement of the year [illegible] has been expended, save $[illegible] (Leg[illegible] [illegible] the City Tre[illegible] in the [illegible] the tax roll [illegible] delinquent [illegible] unable [illegible] present [illegible] of the [illegible] officers

[illegible] system of accounts [illegible] appropriations of [illegible] proper [illegible] and money appropriated [illegible] purposes, [illegible] held sacred [illegible] only, unless [illegible] by order of the C[illegible] fund [illegible] certainly [illegible] advantage [illegible] the city, [illegible] system, as [illegible] were [illegible] that the [illegible] has reserved [illegible] for [illegible] what was appropriated [illegible]

[illegible] exhibit of the finances [illegible] recommended would enable [illegible] to form a more reliable estimate [illegible] of the ensuing year, and [illegible] which [illegible] ment might be [illegible] that no [illegible] by ordinance [illegible] auditing [illegible] practice [illegible] before [illegible] should not [illegible] audited and [illegible] of the [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] merits of the [illegible]

The action [illegible] required [illegible] at least twice in each [illegible] in which the city may [illegible]

No small portion of the [illegible] city has been frittered away in previous [illegible] and during the past year a large amount has been paid for [illegible] taxes and licenses [illegible] refunding taxes and licenses which have been illegally assessed Care should be taken to keep within the strict limits of the Charter, and thus avoid unnecessary and vexatious litigation

Much disagreement is likely to ensue between property holders in consequence of discrepancies between the surveys of different appointees of the city This can be more easily remedied now than at some future time The City Surveyor should be directed to define the lines of the different streets and place monuments of a permanent character at proper distances throughout the city

A large proportion of the revenue has hitherto been expended for fire apparatus, engine houses and water cisterns The alacrity exhibited by the Department and the exemption of our city from extensive fires which have been of such frequent occurrence on this coast, have amply repaid the tax payers for the outlay We are now well supplied with water—the number of Companies already organized is deemed ample for our present wants, and although it may be necessary that the city should make some further appropriations for building additional engine houses, there is a prospect that the Department will not be so great a burthen as heretofore.

The use of steam fire apparatus in our Department would be costly, and wholly unsuited to the present condition of our streets I therefore recommend a repeal of the ordinance appropriating money for the purchase of a steam fire engine I recommend a continuance of the usual appropriations for the current expenses of the several Companies composing the Fire Department

While the revenue of the city has been steadily increased the percentage paid to the collecting and disbursing officers has remained the same It now costs the city eight per cent of the revenue for the salaries of the Collector and Treasurer alone. I think that the fees of the City Collector at least might be reduced It is but justice to the tax-payers that the salaries of officers should be reduced to the smallest sum consistent with the employment of faithful incumbents.

By far the most important subject which will engage your attention during the year is the condition of our streets They are now a reproach to the city and its inhabitants So pressing is the necessity for some action that all other improvements seem of little consequence in comparison.

It seems to me but just that the real estate, which is permanently benefitted and enhanced in value, should alone pay for the grading and paving of the streets adjacent.

A taxation of personal property for such purpose would in my opinion be unjust, and a severe blow to the commercial prosperity of the city

Some plan of permanently improving the streets should at once be adopted I am of the opinion that paving will be found the cheapest when durability is considered, but whatever plan may be adopted, either by paving macadamizing or otherwise, it should be uniform and all property holders should be made to conform to it in making such improvements

There are grave defects in our City Charter in the matter of street improvement The Charter does not provide any mode by which liens upon real property for its cost may be enforced, and before the Charter can be so amended the season will be

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMON COUNCIL.—The new Board held its second regular session in the Council Chamber last evening. Present—Councilmen Bennett, Frazar, Gradon, Goodnough, Hurgren and Starr. President [illegible] in the Chair.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The following Message was received from the Mayor, read, and referred to a special committee of three:

To the Hon. Common Council of the City of Portland:

GENTLEMEN—The Act incorporating the City of Portland makes it the duty of the Mayor to [illegible] to the Common Council at least once each year a general statement of the situation [illegible] of the city in relation to its finances, [illegible]ments and government, and to recommend [illegible] of all such measures connected with [illegible] as he shall deem expedient.

I have deferred this communication in the hope of [illegible] able to give you a statement in detail of the [illegible] condition of the city, but I find that to be [illegible], in consequence of a total want of system [illegible] keeping the accounts. Attention was called [illegible] matter by my predecessor, but his recommendation [illegible] seems to have been unheeded by the late [illegible]. It is impossible without a minute examination of the records of the Council for the entire [illegible] to ascertain for what objects appropriations [illegible] been made.

The revenue of the city during the past year as I [illegible] by the City Collector, was as follows:

From licenses		$1[illegible] 017 79
taxes		19 [illegible] 56
fines—Recorder's Court		1 192 60
		$30,737 85
Amount, licenses refunded	$1 100
taxes	7 350
		$ 8 450 00
Total		$2[illegible] [illegible] 85

To which may be added about $5,000 in U. S. Legal Tender Notes, remaining in the Treasury at the commencement of the year, all of which has been expended [illegible] $[illegible] 81 (Legal Tender Notes) now in the [illegible] the City Treasurer. There remains delinquent on the tax roll for 1863 about $3 500.

[illegible] to find any statement of the present [illegible] of the City among the reports of the [illegible] officers.

[illegible] system of accounts should be so devised as to [illegible] appropriations of money under their proper [illegible] and money appropriated for special purposes, [illegible] be held sacred for that purpose only, unless [illegible] by order of the Council to the general fund. [illegible] certain [illegible] cannot be let on terms as advantageous [illegible] the city under the present system, as [illegible] might be were contractors assured that the [illegible] was reserved for the special purpose for [illegible] was appropriated.

[illegible] of the finances in the manner recommended would enable a succeeding Council to form [illegible] reliable estimate of the expenses of the en[illegible] year and also indicate the items in which re[illegible] might be made.

[illegible] that no provision whatever is made by ordinance [illegible] auditing the accounts of the collecting and [illegible] officers and that it has been the practice [illegible] heretofore to retain their fees before [illegible] the balance due the city. This should not [illegible]. Their accounts should be audited and [illegible] drawn upon the Treasury, by order of the [illegible] for the amount of fees due them.

[illegible] of a system of accounts in such [illegible] that the appropriations for salaries, Fire [illegible] expenses, Light, Surveys, current expenses and other items would appear under their [illegible] and some provision for the ex[illegible] and auditing of accounts of receiving [illegible] officers appear to me to be among [illegible] requiring your attention.

I suggest that the Clerk of the Council be directed [illegible] the numbers and amounts of unpaid [illegible] also the amount of contracts already let [illegible], in order that the exact indebtedness of [illegible] may be ascertained.

[illegible] by the City Attorney that two [illegible] have been rendered against the city which [illegible]—one in favor of T. C. Walters on [illegible] for building eleven cisterns, rendered in [illegible] last, amount $1,500. Another in favor [illegible] Portland Gas Light Co. rendered in March last,

[illegible] merits of these claims should at once be [illegible] inquiry and if unjust appealed to a high[illegible] and urged to a speedy termination, other[illegible] they should be immediately liquidated.

[illegible] against Leland and Stout for the re[illegible] of the North Market Square claimed under a [illegible] by the two proprietors is still pending [illegible] County Court. This suit has been [illegible] for years and is of importance, as a decision [illegible] the rights of the city to [illegible] property claimed under similar dedi[illegible]. This suit should be urged to a final decision [illegible] practicable. I recommend that the city [illegible] be requested to report to the Common Council [illegible] twice in each year the condition of all [illegible] which the city may be interested.

[illegible] portion of the revenue of the city has [illegible] away in previous years by litigation [illegible] for the most part by hasty legislation, and [illegible] the past year a large amount has been paid [illegible] and disbursing officers for receiving [illegible] taxes and licenses which have [illegible] illegally assessed. Care should be taken to [illegible] the strict limits of the Charter, and thus [illegible] costly and vexatious litigation.

[illegible] is likely to ensue between [illegible] holders in consequence of discrepancies be[illegible] surveys of different appointees of the city [illegible] be more easily remedied now than at some [illegible]. The City Surveyor should be directed [illegible] the lines of the different streets and place [illegible] of a permanent character at proper dis[illegible] throughout the city.

[illegible] large proportion of the revenue has hitherto [illegible] for fire apparatus, engine houses and [illegible] cisterns. The alacrity exhibited by the De[illegible] and the exemption of our city from exten[illegible] fires which have been of such frequent occur[illegible] in other cities, have amply repaid the tax pay[illegible] for the outlay. We are now well supplied with [illegible] the number of Companies already organized [illegible] ample for our present wants, and although [illegible] necessary that the city should make some [illegible] appropriations for building additional engine [illegible] there is a prospect that the Department will [illegible] great a burthen as heretofore.

[illegible] use of steam fire apparatus in our Department [illegible] costly and wholly unsuited to the present [illegible] of our streets. I therefore recommend a [illegible] of the ordinance appropriating money for the [illegible] of a steam fire engine. I recommend a [illegible] of the usual appropriations for the cur[illegible] expenses of the several Companies composing [illegible] Fire Department.

[illegible] the revenue of the city has been steadily [illegible] the percentage paid to the collecting and [illegible] officers has remained the same. It now [illegible] eight per cent of the revenue for the [illegible] of the Collector and Treasurer alone. I think [illegible] fees of the City Collector at least might be [illegible]. It is but justice to the tax payers that the [illegible] officers should be reduced to the smallest sum [illegible] with the employment of faithful labor.

[illegible] the most important subject which will en[illegible] your attention during the year is the condition [illegible] streets. They are now a reproach to the city [illegible] inhabitants. So pressing is the necessity [illegible] act on that all other improvements seem of [illegible] consequence in comparison.

[illegible] to me but just that the real estate which [illegible] benefitted and enhanced in value [illegible] pay for the grading and paving of the [illegible] adjacent.

[illegible] of personal property for such purpose [illegible] opinion be unjust, and a severe blow [illegible] general prosperity of the city.

[illegible] plan of permanently improving the streets [illegible] be adopted. I am of the opinion [illegible] paving will be found the cheapest when du[illegible] considered, but whatever plan may be [illegible] either by paving macadamizing or other[illegible] should be uniform and all property holders [illegible] be made to conform to it in making such [illegible] improvements.

[illegible] are grave defects in our City Charter in the [illegible] of street improvement. The Charter does [illegible] any mode by which liens upon real [illegible] its cost may be enforced, and before [illegible] it can be so amended the season will be [illegible] far advanced that there will be but a short period [illegible] left in which to repair our thoroughfares.

The Council [illegible] way or any street im[illegible] by grading [illegible] and require the work to be done in accordance with the plan adopted and under the supervision and [illegible] of the Street Commissioner. Thursday evening was adopted for the regular meetings of the Council.

On motion adjourned.

A BUSY DAY.—Yesterday was perhaps the busiest day among the merchants, shippers, and draymen of this city, that has been known so far, this season. In the vicinity of the lower landing, and on Couch's wharf, the hurry, bustle, and din reminded one forcibly of localities similarly devoted in larger and older cities. The heavy and swift moving freights to and from the Ocean bound steamer, incoming cargo of the three masted schooner Monitor, the escaping steam and rattling trucks of the Senator, the rapid movement of freight clerks and consignees, and shippers, with their bills of lading, all conspired to promote the general din, and convey an idea to the observant stranger that we were not only a business community, but that we could and did transact an immense amount in a short time. Three steamers left the O. S. N. Co.'s wharf for the Cascades, during the day, and yet the entrance was almost blocked up, by the multitude of wagons which were made ready for transportation up country this morning. We also noticed that merchants were unusually busy in packing goods for shipment up the Willamette, and the boats of this morning will all leave with full cargoes.

MORE THIEVING.—On Monday morning last Mr Thompson, living about a mile and a half below this city, on the East side of the river, discovered a quantity of freight stowed away in an old flat boat near his premises, and at once his suspicions were aroused that they were stolen goods—which proved to be the case upon inspection. The marks showed them to have belonged principally to Messrs Cahn & Co., to whom Mr Thompson immediately reported, and it was ascertained that their warehouse, corner of Pine and First streets had been entered and robbed of goods, sometime between Friday evening and Monday morning. A watch was set over the place where the articles had been discovered, in the hope of "nipping" the thief, but it was ineffectual, no one appearing to take them, up to yesterday morning, they were returned to the owners. A part of the goods had been taken from Couch's wharf.

ARRIVAL OF THE MONITOR.—The schooner Monitor, Capt Nelson Master, arrived yesterday, 15 days from San Francisco. She lay off the Columbia bar three days and at Astoria three days, arriving in tow of the steamer John H. Couch. The following is her manifest:

THE NEW WORLD.—This fine steamer, which has been running with great success on the Sacramento route, and one of the fastest boats on the coast, has been purchased by the Oregon Steam Navigation Company; and will be on her way here as soon as she can be fitted for the sea trip. Probably she will reach Portland early in May, and will then be made ready to take the place of the Hunt in the Company's line to the Cascades. We have no doubt that she will prove to be a great and universal favorite with the traveling public, and a source of large profit to her enterprising owners.

THE PANORAMA.—A good audience was present last evening at the Theatre to witness this interesting exhibition, which is well worthy of universal patronage. The subjects are in everybody's recollection—the early scenes of the war from the bombardment of Fort Sumter to Burnside's battle of Fredericksburg. We have not the space to devote to a detailed account of the fine views, etc. this morning as it will be repeated every evening this week and on Saturday afternoon, every body should see it.

ACCIDENT.—Yesterday morning the mate of the steamer Brother Jonathan, while superintending the reception of freight, lost his balance and was precipitated through the forward hatch into the hold, striking heavily on his head and shoulders among the cargo below. He was seriously injured but was not considered in a dangerous condition in the afternoon.

DEPARTURE OF THE STEAMSHIP.—The steamship Brother Jonathan, S. I. DeWolf Commander, left this port at 7½ o'clock P. M. yesterday, carrying about 100 passengers, and $163,000 in treasure. Her manifest of freight is small from this place, consisting of 520 boxes of apples, 40 boxes of eggs, and 20 kegs of dried fruit.

FRESH SALMON.—Mr Rickards has placed us under obligations for a sample of the Chinook Salmon furnished by him upon the arrival of the Couch from Astoria twice a week. They are splendid.

SEWING MACHINES.—Persons in want of a good Sewing Machine will find Messrs Grover & Baker's a first rate article. There is none better. These machines have been before the public for many years, their merits have been thoroughly tested and a verdict in their favor has been [illegible] unanimously rendered all over the country.

STOP THAT COUGHING!

SOME OF YOU CAN'T, AND WE PITY YOU. YOU have tried every remedy but the right one; and that one is destined by its intrinsic merit to supersede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure, but

NEWELL'S
Pulmonary Syrup!

Is really what is claimed for it; namely, the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefited by the surprising curative powers of

Pulmonary Syrup!

And with one accord give it their unqualified approbation. We now address ourselves to all who are unacquainted with this, the Greatest Panacea of the Age, for the healing of all Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, assuring you that

NEWELLS'
Pulmonary Syrup!

Has cured thousands and it will cure YOU if you try it.

This invaluable medicine is pleasant to the taste, soothing, healing and strengthening in its effects, entirely free from all poisonous or deleterious drugs, and perfectly harmless under all circumstances.

A Sketch of Lord Palmerston in the House of Commons

The average of Lord Palmerston's speeches are more successful than those of any other man in the House He never delivers a speech which can be called a failure A remark which we heard made in reference to the late Lord Lyndhurst applies with equal force, different as the two men are to Lord Palmerston The claims of Lord Lyndhurst to be considered an orator, in the highest sense were being discussed It was observed that one of the best and discriminating of the biographical notices that appeared after his death described Lord Lyndhurst as the most equal of speakers, as one in fact who never made a failure "Then,' was the shrewd comment, ' I am satisfied that he was not a great orator Great orators are especially unequal " And great orators are not always very successful as practical debaters It seems doubtful whether a mere partisan, caring only for a division, would not often have preferred than Edmund Burke should be against and not for him In our own day it may have happened that a division would show better for the Liberal side had John Bright not spoken, or spoken against the Ministry We have heard orations from Mr Gladstone which undoubtedly injured rather than served the cause which the orator had at heart A great rhetorician has almost always something of the nature of the white elephant in him

Not so Lord Palmerston Like Homer's or Pope's Nestor, he says no more than just the thing he ought He always selects, and as if by a sort of instinct, not the arguments which are most logically cogent, but those which are most likely to suit the character and temper of his audience He speaks always for his hearers, and never for himself; always to affect those he addresses, never for the sake of arguing out any convictions present and passionate in his own mind He earns the positive affection of the House of Commons by never becoming a lecturer or a bore He never stands alone, or nearly alone, on any question No sudden impulse, no irresistible conviction, ever drives him to take up any position which might bring him into antagonism with the average mind of the [illegible] He never talks over the heads of his audience, he never compels them to strain their intellects in order to keep pace with him He never fails to harmonise with the general intelligence of the English people Even those who are forced into a political antagonism with him on special topics are likewise compelled to acknowledge that they are [illegible] way of viewing the subject He [illegible] says just the kind of reasoning which addresses itself to the moderate party on either side Having a thorough knowledge of the varying tempers of the House he never thinks of addressing Philip exalted as he would reason with Philip in his calmer moments

Very seldom does Lord Palmerston say a really witty thing Few of his satirical touches are likely to be remembered, scarcely any of his sarcastic hits will be quoted [illegible] many of Disraeli's now are but his jests are invariably much better adapted to time and place and temper than the repartees of any other debater in the House His shots hit, as Burke said of Charles Townsend's wit just between wind and water No man can interpose so skillfully as he can just before the division to break and dissipate the effect of a telling speech against him and seduce the House into a frame of mind for regarding all that has been done by the Opposition as a mere harmless conventionality gone through in deference to the formal necessities of a party on which it would be a waste of power to bestow a serious thought and a waste of time to hunt up a reluctant vote

The secret of his success lies in his consummate cleverness his thorough knowledge of English temper, his absence of any of the aspirations or the caprices of genius He has the happy art of seeming to lead where in reality he takes good care only to follow The Doctor, in one of Dickens' novels, obtains the repute of supreme skill, because he prescribes just the remedies which he knows the lady of the house has been already preparing Thus with Lord Palmerston He knows exactly what the general voice of the country will demand under given conditions He shapes his course accordingly, and thus he secures all the honor, while avoiding all the responsibility of leadership Lord Palmerston represents, under all circumstances, the feelings the judgments, the inclinations, the prejudices, and the passions of the average British character He represents the average head and heart of an age singularly devoid of high aspirations or constant earnest purpose, an age peculiarly intolerant of eccentricity, especially if it be that of genius, an age averse to having its feelings long strained in any one direction, delighting only in easy and ephemeral pleasures and excitements; practical so far as to be reluctant to risk or sacrifice much means to be practical, and hostile to anything which draws heavily on the intellect, whether in art, in literature, or in statesmanship That is the England which Lord Palmerston admirably represents Future generations can best understand what sort of people were the Englishmen of our day, by studying the life and character of our most successful statesman To serve the purpose of the hour is Lord Palmerston's policy, to succeed in serving it is his triumph, to have succeeded in serving it will be his fame. In the strictest sense may his political reputation be called a national possession, for it is the reputation of his country during his period of success —Westminster Review

LOGIC.—As a specimen of the utility of logic, we give the following "A sharp student was called upon by the worthy professor of a celebrated college and asked the question, 'Can a man see without eyes?' 'Yes sir,' was the proper answer ' How, sir,' cried the amazed professor, can a man see [illegible] Pray sir, how do you make [illegible] He can see with one [illegible] [illegible] and the whole [illegible] at this triumph [illegible]

THE DEMOCRACY AT SEA —The New York correspondent of the Virginia Union writes

A meeting of Tammany Hall politicians and Radical Republicans was held in New York last Saturday night at which it was determined to call a convention of Radical War Democrats and Republicans to meet at Baltimore on the [illegible] June to consult with the National Union Convention [illegible] if not to organize [illegible] the basis of immediate [illegible] As this meeting was strictly private [illegible] [illegible] by [illegible] of [illegible] sections of the [illegible] [illegible] A very large number of persons [illegible] adhered to the Democratic party [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] of the loyal States [illegible] the [illegible] rebellion subjugated and [illegible] on the question of [illegible] of the rebel States

LADY KISSING —A lady writing to an eastern paper says "Among the lesser evils of life, kissing is one of the disagreeables Two ladies meet kiss, and are having a nice chat, in comes a third lady in haste, more kissing chats a few moments, more kissing—she leaves First and second ladies regretting so short a stay with them Third lady is gone but not forgotten. First lady 'I'm so glad to be rid of such a nuisance and always glad when she is gone ' Second lady 'I never did like her, what an abominable breath! always smells like onions ' The number third's peculiarities and character are dissected in a manner that would do credit to an antagonist A kiss between mother and daughter, brother and sister, is a chaste and sacred emblem of true friendship, also a kiss between two real friends Such kisses I like But to kiss lips that you know have been stained by falsehood or gossip is very revolting to my feelings and such lips are kissed daily in the present silly fashion Lips kiss you that would curse you, if swearing was fashionable among the ladies I have been trying to save my kisses for my husband, if providence and the war ever intend that I shall have one, which I think is extremely doubtful, as I am beginning to fear that such a thing has never been born Wish men would get to kissing when they meet so as to disgust us as much as we have disgusted them "

TAKING OFF TRADE REGULATIONS IN MISSOURI AND THE EFFECT —The Secretary of the Treasury lately abolished the permit system and other so called restrictions affecting the trade of the city of St Louis with the interior of the State The trade is now as free as ever and shipments can be made of everything, save articles contraband of war, to any part of the State The result is seen in the capture of a wagon train bound from Cape Girardeau to Northern Arkansas, loaded clandestinely with small arms and ammunition for the rebels The train consisted of six wagons, which contained munitions of war packed in very innocent looking crates and boxes, and valued at $10,000. These goods were undoubtedly purchased in St Louis, and shipped in the first instance as provisions and dry goods to Cape Girardeau, They were then put on wagons and started for the country in such an open manner as to ward off suspicion An intercepted letter however, gave our officers the first clue to the goods and they watched till they found the rebels had started, whence they pounced down upon them It is not known how many cases of cartridges and revolvers may have been shipped in a similar clandestine manner to localities in the country where the rebels can easily get them The propriety of reviving the restrictions on trade may be considered worthy of deliberation.

STOCK-JOBBING TELEGRAPH CIPHERS —A letter from Washington to the Cincinnati Commercial says "An interesting chapter in the history of these troublous times might be written on the strange meaning given to words and sentences in the ciphers used by the stock jobbers in New York, and their agents here to notify each other of important events affecting the gold and stock market — For instance, a young man wanted to tell a Wall street broker that the Committee on Ways and Means would authorize Secretary Chase to put several millions of dollars in gold in the market. He ran to the telegraph office, and communicated his knowledge to his employers in the following dispatch "My wife died yesterday, send a metallic coffin " The reader will be puzzled to find out the analogy between the death of a man's wife and a heavy gold sale by Chase, but the stock jobbers understood it perfectly Another gentleman conveyed a similar piece of news over the wires through the following dispatch My sister Eliza was married last June ' Thus it will be seen that different causes like results produce, the death of the wife and the marriage of a sister, served the same purpose, and seem to have been equally felicitous events in the life of two different persons "

OLD STAGERS PUT TO SHAME —A few days since, a gentleman of this city, caught a wild linnet in his office, the bird having flown in through an open window, and overstayed its time He presented it to a lady friend who had several canary birds—excellent singers—in cages A cage was soon fixed up for the new comer, and he formally installed therein as one of the family At first, the linnet appeared to take his imprisonment very much to heart, and was demure and disconsolate So he was left the first night But in the morning, the whole family were surprised and delighted to hear a new song from the aviary The linnet had accommodated himself to his new quarters and was making the best possible use out of adversity. The canaries were looking on in mute astonishment, and hadn't a word to say The linnet had sung them completely out of tune and tune —Stockton Independent

There is no doubt in our mind, that attention to poultry on the farm affords more profit on the money invested, than is realized from any other item of equal investment But the comfort and convenience of having poultry and eggs at hand whenever they are wanted are sufficient in themselves to recommend their production, even if there were no profit New England Farmer

" Perhaps Brother Jonathan does carry his hands in his pockets " said a drawling Yankee in dispute with an Englishman ; " but the difference between him and John Bull is, that Brother Jonathan has his hands in his own pockets while John Bull has his in somebody else's "

The man whose good will is governed by his prejudices in religious or political matters and whose charity is so small that he cannot allow men to differ with him in opinion as unworthy the title of friendship, will, sooner or later find himself without friends

THE SPIRIT OF CONVERT [illegible] —Some time last year while [illegible] was Provost Marshal, [illegible] a rebel was carried before him [illegible] [illegible] by taking [illegible] After which the [illegible]

"I'm a loyal citizen now, ain't I not, Colonel ?" asked the rebel

"Of course," replied the Colonel

"Well, I can express my opinion, can't I ?"

" Of course "

" Well [illegible], didn't the rebels give us hell at Shiloh ?"

The [illegible] was still on him and he couldn't disguise it.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED

CONCLUSIVE PROOF

OF THE EFFICACY OF

HOSTETTER'S

STOMACH BITTERS!

PROTECTIVE MEDICATION

Great Truths

IN—

SMALL COMPASS!

WHAT THE BITTERS ARE.

A pure Almighty Vegetable Balm
[illegible] the nerves to calm,
Protect [illegible] Miasma's bane,
Rouse torpid Nature and its strength sustain.

THEIR INGREDIENTS.

Juices of plants roots, barks of virtues rare,
By them [illegible] expressed with patient care,
And the [illegible] rye—
Purest of all [illegible] stimuli

RESULTS OF THEIR USE.

Digestion rallies appetite revives,
The food assimilates the patient thrives,
Dyspepsia [illegible] flies, with all its throes
And peaceful sleep succeeds disturbed repose.

EFFECTS ON THE LIVER.

The bilious sufferer languid, listless pale,
Physicked for years perhaps without avail,
Finds in the BITTERS all he asks or needs,
And lives to smile at doctors and their creeds.

OPERATION ON THE BOWELS.

Relaxed constricted, or the seat of pain,
These organs should not, for one day, remain.
The cause of each extreme you can expel—
The BITTERS tone and regulate as well.

EFFECT ON THE DEBILITATED.

The flaccid muscles firmness soon acquire,
The frame gains flesh the eye resumes its fire,
Strength to the limbs, hope to the heart returns,
Till staff and crutch the convalescent spurns.

BROKEN CONSTITUTION.

The constitution tried by pain or care,
Or wild indulgence, is not repair
The [illegible] the healthful dews
Quickens parched herbs, its wasted power renews

CHILLS AND FEVER.

Damp cold exposure to the malarious fog,
Brings on of ills a fearful catalogue
But intermittents, whatso'er their kind,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS scatter to the wind.

SICK HEADACHE.

This torment dire, that all enjoyment kills,
Yields not to pungent scents or drastic pills;
'Tis from the stomach that it takes its rise,
Tone with the BITTERS, and the anguish flies

WANT OF APPETITE.

Without due nourishment life's pulses wane,
The blood grows thin and dullness clouds the brain,
But this Elixir sets the system right,
And "Good Digestion waits on Appetite."

THE BITTERS AFTER SICKNESS.

Exhausting fever leaves its victim low,
And, unassisted Health's return is slow
Then with the Bitters weakened Nature [illegible]
For in each drop vitality's conveyed

AS A GENERAL PREVENTIVE.

By night and day, on river, sea or land
In instant peril of disease we stand
But its dread arrows harmless soon [illegible]
Past all with this invigorant fortified.

IMPURE WATER, ETC.

Roam through the world through every climate [range,
Here is the antidote 'gainst every change,
Where impure it tempers, and inures
Men in all hardships to all temperatures.

SEA SICKNESS

Who has not felt how feebly words essay
The [illegible] one feels on shipboard to portray?
Dread them no more, defy old Neptune's power,
The Bitters cure the nausea in an hour

AN UNADULTERATED TONIC

Of all the liquors borne across the sea
Not one—mark that—from acrid poison's free,
The Bitters stand mid stimulants alone,
Powerless to irritate, though prompt to tone.

A MILD APERIENT

Remember [illegible] aperient root and herb,
Are blent with those that relaxation curb
In this rare mixture, give this fact due weight,
That while the Bitters tone, they regulate

A GENTLE CORRECTIVE.

If on the stomach food to acid turns,
And pungent gas the inner membrane burns,
This grand corrective soon removes the bane,
And from the heartburn frees the inner man

A SAFE AND GENTLE ANODYNE.

Why not with all the opiates dispense
That shake the nerves and paralyze the sense,
When these rare BITTERS soothe both mind and frame
Inviting both to yield to slumbers claim ?

THE WORLD'S OPINION

Touching the BITTERS this grand fact is clear,
Their fame fills all the Western Hemisphere,
Known in all lands washed by its oceans twain,
HEALTH, HOPE and VIGOR follow in their train !

AVOID COUNTERFEITS

HOSTETTER'S BITTERS share the common fate
Of all things good Impostors imitate,
Of these beware Discreetly use your eyes,
From honest houses purchase your supplies.

CAUTION!

The Government Endorsement.

In order to guard against the impositions the public are requested to [illegible] the especial note of the beautifully engraved proprietary stamp through which the Government of the United States officially authenticates every bottle of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS This shield thrown by the Government over the proprietors and the public for their joint protection is placed conspicuously across the [illegible] and over the neck of each bottle and cannot fail to strike the eye of the [illegible] Nothing that purports to be HOSTETTER'S BITTERS can be genuine unless the stamp is there

It is also proper to state that the BITTERS are sold exclusively [illegible] and never under any circumstance by the gallon or the barrel Imposters and imitators are abroad and [illegible] the only safeguard the public have against [illegible] the Bitters they buy bear the engraved [illegible] of Messrs HOSTETTER & SMITH, and the [illegible] above mentioned
